

How to Communicate with 4-H Members in an Electronic Environment

During these difficult times, it is important to find ways to continue to interact with our members in a safe Electronic Environment. These points are highlights from 4-H Nova Scotia's Instructions to Implement Communications and Virtual Meetings in an Electronic Environment that can be found on our website: 4Hnovascotia.ca

DO
Ensure Privacy
Settings are Set

Make sure you're copying parents/guardians and another leader on communications with members. Parents make sure you're aware of the club and project activities.

DO
ASK QUESTIONS

Others might be having the same questions! Share an idea or a question in an email with the entire group.
That's when you get the best answers!

DO
Have fun and Learn
New Things!

Don't forget our Motto is "Learn to Do by Doing". This is an awesome opportunity to safely explore new project options you might not have considered before.

DON'T Put yourself or the members at risk

- Don't ask for personal information
- Don't send private messages to members - texts or Facebook Messages
- Don't be in a closed space when you're in a virtual meeting

Continue
Being Leaders!

- Follow the Two Leader Rule
- Send 4-H Appropriate Communications
- Follow the Code of Conduct
- Abide by Social Media Age Restrictions

CAN RECORD!

Pre-record a video to send to your members. Post them in a public space (like the Club Facebook Page or in an email to everyone)
