Overview of 4-H Program in Nova Scotia

4-H in Canada had its beginnings in Roland, Manitoba in 1913 as a community-based organization dedicated to the growth and development of rural youth. Today's program continues to serve primarily rural communities. The first 4-H club in Nova Scotia formed in 1922 in Heatherton, Antigonish County.

4-H is open to youth between the ages of 9 and 21 years old as of January 1st of the current year. Youth interested in joining 4-H who have passed their 7th birthday, and have not yet reached their 9th birthday may join as a Cloverbud, and while they are not yet full 4-H members they may take part in all club related 4-H activities, with the exception of competitions. 4-H focuses on developing well rounded, responsible and independent citizens. Members and leaders participate in technical skill development, club projects (many related to agriculture) as well as other fun club activities like camping, public speaking, travel, conferences and much more. .

The 4-H program in Nova Scotia is administered by 4-H Nova Scotia in partnership with the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture. Please see the 4-H Nova Scotia website for more information on the history and structure of 4-H in the province, novascotia4h.ca . National programs and services are provided by the national coordinating body, 4-H Canada. For more information on 4-H Canada please go to their website 4-h-canada.ca.

4-H Nova Scotia membership policies require that all 4-H members abide by an established Code of Conduct. In all 4-H activities, members, leaders, and parents are expected to follow all rules and regulations as outlined by 4-H staff or volunteers responsible for the specific program or activity. In this manual certain standards and guidelines are identified for use to assure that 4-H has consistency in protecting the rights of 4-H members and others. When attending, participating or acting on behalf of the 4-H program, all persons are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with accepted standards of social behavior. This is, at a minimum, to respect the rights of others and refrain from conduct which may be injurious to the 4-H program. The standards and procedures set forth in this handbook are minimum standards. If there is a violation of behavior expectations, it can result in limited program participation.

4-H Nova Scotia Code of Conduct

The 4-H program encourages leaders, develops strong citizens and opens the door to many career choices

Our motto is: “Learn to do by doing”. Members are expected to complete project requirements on their own. Parents are encouraged to coach or lend a hand if necessary, but members must do their own work.

All 4-H Nova Scotia events are alcohol and drug free.

Please keep cell phone use to a minimum when at meetings.

4-H members and leaders will conduct themselves in a courteous and respectful manner. They will exhibit good sportsmanship and be positive role models.

Respect the judges’ opinions and knowledge. Learn from the experience of being judged.

4-H members and leaders will recognize that abuse by physical means or through communication, real or perceived, are not acceptable behaviors. Profane language will not be tolerated.

Remember that leaders are volunteers. Please respect the time that they are giving. Always try to thank them.

**Non-observance of these guidelines may result in disciplinary action determined by the 4-H Nova Scotia Council

POLICY # 1.03

4-H Nova Scotia Cloverbud Policy

- Cloverbuds are welcome in the 4-H program
- Cloverbuds members cannot compete beyond club level.
- 7 and 8 year old Cloverbud members must pay the provincial registration fee
- Liability insurance coverage is for 7 and 8 years olds.
- No youth under the age of 7 on January 1st of the current 4-H year are permitted to be registered as a Cloverbud.

4-H Nova Scotia Cloverbud Guidelines

Who is a Cloverbud?

Cloverbuds are children who wish to participate in the 4-H program who have reached the age of 7 but have not met the minimum age requirement of 9 years old by January 1st to register as an official 4-H member.

Overview

Our youngest 4-H members aren't quite ready to participate in many of the project areas and/or activities that older members can, but there's still plenty for them to do in 4-H, starting with fun!

The emphasis is on participation, learning and teamwork; not competition. They might learn about nutrition while helping to prepare simple snacks, plant seeds and learn what to do to help them grow, or help with animal grooming and feeding. It is important that 7 to 8-year-olds be involved in activities where the risk of failure is minimized and the opportunity to experience success is maximized. The 4-H Cloverbud membership provides opportunities for exploration and active learning in a non-competitive environment. By offering a wide variety of activities and experiences, it helps encourage children to explore and think about the world around them.

Having Cloverbud members can provide opportunities for older members to mentor and help a younger 4-H member to be successful, and start laying the groundwork for their future "career" as a 4-H member.

With Cloverbuds, safety comes first, and all activities should be developmentally appropriate for this age group.

Participation in 4-H Activities

Cloverbud members may participate in most projects available through 4-H Nova Scotia. It is important that a leader, parent, adult or senior member be with Cloverbud members while they participate in 4-H activities at all levels. The recommended ratio is one adult or senior member for every six children. Some activities may require a higher ratio of adults to children.

Cloverbuds may participate in non-competitive, age-appropriate activities that are designed for this age group, with the safety of the Cloverbud member top priority.

4-H Cloverbud events and activities shall not be designed or structured as peer competitions. Peer competition is defined as two or more individuals or groups working to achieve an outcome where one individual or group is declared the winner or finishes in first place. A 4-H or 4-H–sponsored event is one that uses the name of the event and the 4-H name and emblem in promoting the event. Examples of competitive events include judging contests, exhibits, shows and other performance activities. While Cloverbud members are encouraged to take part in these activities, it is important to remember that they are doing so as a learning experience only and they will not be judged.

Exhibitions are open to participation for Cloverbuds, but for exhibit only. Members can exhibit work completed in their Cloverbud clubs or groups. It is important to make sure that it is non-competitive and equal recognition is given to all participants. Cloverbud members can be given advice or tips on how to improve their exhibit or work.

POLICY # 1.04

4-H Nova Scotia Bullying Policy

- 4-H Nova Scotia does not condone nor will it tolerate bullying.
- The consequences to persons who are found to have engaged in confirmed bullying, and therefore to have breached 4-H Nova Scotia Code of Conduct will receive a warning not to repeat the behaviour. Further breaches will result in measures up to and including expulsion from 4-H Nova Scotia.

Bullying has three elements: aggression, a power differential and repetition. Bullying is wilful, repeated, aggressive behaviour with negative intent used to maintain power over another. The result is a victim caught in an abusive relationship.

- Unequal Power: One who has more power than another person (or it seems this way to the person involved)
- Hurtful actions: Physically or psychologically harmful behaviour takes place (such as name-calling, insults, threats, kicking, hitting, punching, etc)
- Direct or indirect actions: The abusive behaviour may be face-to-face or done behind a person's back (such as teasing, exclusion, gossiping and spreading rumours)
- Repetitive behaviour: The hurtful actions keep happening so the person being affected finds it increasingly difficult to escape.
- Cyber Bullying: Cyberbullying means any electronic communication through the use of technology including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, computers, other electronic devices, social networks, text messaging, instant messaging, websites and electronic mail, typically repeated or with continuing effect that is intended or ought reasonably to be expected to cause fear, intimidation, humiliation, distress or other damage or harm to another person's health, emotional well-being, self-esteem or reputation, and includes assisting or encouraging communication in any way.

"Cyber-bullying" means an electronic communication, direct or indirect, that causes or is likely to cause harm to another individual's health or well-being where a person responsible for the communication maliciously intended to cause harm to another individual's health or well-being or was reckless with regard to the risk of harm to another individual's health or well-being, and may include:

- i. creating a webpage, blog or profile in which the creator assumes the identify of another person.
- ii. impersonating another person as the author of content or a message.
- iii. disclosure of sensitive personal facts or breach of confidence.
- iv. threats, intimidation or menacing conduct.
- v. communications that are grossly offensive, indecent or obscene.
- vi. communications that are harassment.
- vii. making a false allegation
- viii. communications that incite or encourage another person to commit suicide
- ix. communications that denigrate another person because of any prohibited ground of discrimination listed in Section 5 of the Human Rights Act, or
- x. communications that incite or encourage another person to do any of the foregoing.

POLICY # 2.02*4-H Nova Scotia Leader Code of Conduct Policy

This Code of Conduct Policy applies to all 4-H Nova Scotia Program leaders involved with 4-H clubs, Regions, County Councils, and the 4-H Nova Scotia Council. These are general rules of conduct necessary to provide a high standard of service.

Each 4-H Leader is expected to conduct himself/herself towards others in the following manner:

- Speak and act with respect and dignity to all participants of any activity within the 4-H community and its supporters.
- To the best of their ability, promote the motto "Learn to Do by Doing" and the philosophies of the 4-H program they represent.
- Respect the confidential nature of information regarding specific council or 4-H program affairs that they may have access to (until such time as the information may become public within the established processes in the 4-H Nova Scotia organization).
- Not use their position of trust for personal advantage or profit /gain.
- Accept their duty to know their responsibilities thoroughly. 4-H Leaders are expected to take part in learning opportunities available to them.
- Refrain from making unauthorized representation to the outside bodies in the name of the 4-H program/4-H Nova Scotia Council.
- Ensure that outside interests do not jeopardize their judgment or competence.

POLICY # 2.03

4-H Nova Scotia Volunteer Screening Policy

The 4-H Nova Scotia Program welcomes volunteers and endeavors to protect its members by providing a safe environment in which young people can learn and grow.

Background

All 4-H volunteers must undertake and pass the screening process set out in this policy. The 4-H Nova Scotia Staff must screen all 4-H Volunteers as per the policy.

Policy

All 4-H leaders must be screened before they may work alone with 4-H members. (This does not apply to parents working solely with their own children.)

Volunteers who are not screened are considered to be on probation.

Probation refers to the period of time that a 4-H volunteer works with a club or committee while his/her screening application is being processed. Leaders on probation are NOT allowed unsupervised access to 4-H members. Another screened leader MUST work with them at all times.

Please ensure Criminal Record Check (CRC) and Child Abuse Registry (CAR) are completed within a 6 month period. If the required forms (CRC) and (CAR) are not within that timeframe, volunteers will be required to get an updated version. If a volunteer is required to get fingerprints and the process is delayed, please contact the 4-H Nova Scotia office.

Every potential new 4-H Volunteer must complete an application package and submit it to the provincial 4-H Office by January 15th of the relevant screening year.

Volunteers must provide the original copy of the Child Abuse Registry check. The volunteer will receive it in the mail. Copies, scans or faxes are not acceptable. The 4-H Nova Scotia office must receive the original.

Until the screening process is complete volunteers may NOT be permitted to meet with 4-H members without a screened 4-H NS volunteer present at all times. The process must be completed within six months of registration or the volunteer will NOT be permitted to meet with members as a leader under any circumstances until the process is complete.

If potential volunteers do not complete the screening process, the volunteer will receive a reminder via email or call, a letter of reminder and then a letter to inform him/her that he/she is not permitted to represent 4-H in a leadership/chaperone/screened volunteer role.

New 4-H volunteer application packages must include:

- Nova Scotia Volunteer Screening Application Form
- A police record check with vulnerable sector check
- Child Abuse Register Check
- Three letters of reference

Renewing 4-H volunteer application packages must include:

- Nova Scotia Volunteer Screening Application Form
- A police record check with vulnerable sector check
- Child Abuse Register Check

Screening and Selection

It is the responsibility of the 4-H Nova Scotia Office to ensure 4-H volunteers satisfy the requirements for becoming a 4-H volunteer.

For all aspects of the screening and selection process, the determination of whether an applicant or an existing 4-H volunteer has completed all parts of the screening process at the discretion of 4-H Nova Scotia staff.

All screened volunteers will receive a volunteer card and will repeat the process after five years. All cards will indicate the expiry date.

Once the expiry date has passed, the volunteer is no longer screened. It is important to begin the rescreening process two months prior to the date of expiry. This will avoid periods where screening has lapsed and will allow for a smooth transition from one screening period to the next.

A Green project completion sticker will be given to a member who has completed:		A Silver project completion sticker will be given to a member who has completed:	A Gold project completion sticker will be given to a member who has completed:
Record Sheet and Project Work		Record Sheet and Project Work	Record Sheet and Project Work
Plus one of : - Communications or - Club Contribution or - Judging		Plus two of : - Communications and/or - Club Contribution and/or - Judging	Plus all three : - Communications and - Club Contribution and - Judging

* County Councils of 4-H clubs may add requirements at their discretion.

Here is an explanation of these 5 components:

Record Sheet - Each member must complete a satisfactory record sheet. It should be neat, accurate, concise and complete. If necessary, members may add an extra page to record extra meetings and activities you attended.

Project Work - Each member's project work will be evaluated on the projects and whether or not all the requirements are met. A 1st, 2nd, or 3rd place ribbon will be given for project work.

Communication - Members who participate in public speaking and/or demonstrations at club level will receive recognition on their Achievement Day Certificate.

Club Contribution - This is evaluated by the member=s project and general leaders during the year. This takes into consideration such things as attendance at meetings and events, attitude, effort, cooperation and self-expression. A 4-H member should participate in their club as much as possible. Members who have completed club contribution will receive recognition on their Achievement Day certificate. Each club can set their own standards for club contribution and should make members aware of this standard upon registration.

Judging - Members compare four (4) items related to their project, place them from best to worst and give reasons for their placing. The local 4-H office has the "You Be the Judge" resource box available on loan to 4-H leaders.

Project Rules and Guidelines:

- Project specific newsletters will be made available online or from General Leaders early in the current 4-H year. Newsletters will have the current and up-to-date project rules, requirements, and regulations for that project. ### 4-H Nova Scotia Crisis Management Policy

The Crisis Management Plan is a process for 4-H partners in Nova Scotia to follow where there is a high profile situation that requires immediate action. As each crisis is different, this is a framework that will allow for appropriate flexibility in dealing with any serious event.

Examples of a crisis include:

- A death or a serious injury of a 4-H member, leader, volunteer or any other person at a 4-H function.
- Any issue that might be reported to the media that will reflect negatively on the 4-H program.
- A situation where there might be an inappropriate use of funds
- Any accusations of abuse of any kind.
- Any situation that requires staff to complete and file an incident report form.

When a crisis happens:

1. Contact the 4-H Nova Scotia Executive Director, or your regional ALC at the first reasonable opportunity.
2. Provide details of the incident, any action taken, and if appropriate a copy of any media coverage.
3. Complete an incident report as soon as possible, and maintain documentation of all related actions. These are available from the 4-H Nova Scotia office or your regional ALC.
4. Refer any media calls to the 4-H Nova Scotia Executive Director.

The 4-H Nova Scotia Executive Director has the role of:

- Being the first point of contact for the department, media, staff, and council
- Implementing a Crisis Strategy
- Working with the 4-H Nova Scotia Council President
- Contacting 4-H Canada regarding any crisis

4-H Nova Scotia Exclusion Policy

The 4-H organization at all levels has the responsibility to ensure the safety and general welfare of 4-H members under its jurisdiction. Individual clubs decide who may be members and leaders in their club. Youth and/or adults may be excluded from club participation if past and/or present behaviors are deemed by the majority of the club/provincial leadership to be detrimental to the group or the provincial 4-H program.

Definition:

Club Leadership Team - Adult volunteers or leaders in the 4-H club.

The club leadership team has the responsibility to:

- Ensure that the needs, safety and general welfare of 4-H members under its jurisdiction is considered and respected.
- Ensure that the best interests of all 4-H members as a group are duly considered.
- Expel or disallow the involvement of an individual whom they deem to be detrimental to be associated with the group.

Each 4-H club has the right to control the make-up of its membership providing that they follow the age requirements of the 4-H program, do not contravene any rights issues, and have, in place, by-laws within their constitution that deals with the issue of eligibility or expulsion from their club. Club policies may not be in opposition of 4H Nova Scotia policies or with the law. It is expected that most issues will be dealt with at the club level, but circumstances may require assistance from county council or the Executive Director of 4-H Nova Scotia.

If a 4-H member or adult is to be excluded from participation in a 4-H Club, the leadership team must:

- If possible, present alternatives, probationary period, or options for changed behaviors.
- Consult with the Executive Director of 4-H Nova Scotia before action is taken.

- Consider facts, observed behaviors and effects the situation will have on the club and its membership.
- Meet with the youth or adult in question to clarify issues and concerns (if meeting with a youth, their parent(s)/guardian(s) must be present). Document all information discussed during the meeting.
- Clearly document expectations of involvement and details of misconduct.
- Explore all reasonable alternatives.
- Meet as a group to make a majority decision. If a youth or parent is to be excluded, be very clear whom you are excluding and why. Document details relating to the exclusion.
- Document decisions and plan of action.
- Implement the plan of action - preferably in person or via registered mail.
- Keep all documentation relating to the exclusion for 5 years with the highest level of authority that makes the decision. For example, if a club makes the decision to exclude someone, then the club general leader should keep that information. If a county or province makes the decision to exclude someone, then the county council president or the provincial 4-H office would keep the information.
- Report the decision to the 4-H Nova Scotia Board of Directors through the Executive Director.

A club can only take action for itself and the decision of the club is restricted to that specific club. Please keep in mind that this policy is meant to guide clubs through difficult situations.
